

FOOD CONNECTIONS CONFERENCE

Healthy Pathways from Seed to Table—

- Includes Rural and Urban Planning • Agriculture • Government • Transportation • Waste management • Community-based Action School and Institutional food service • Education • Food Security • Public health and more!

- Help shape a clearer picture of our local food systems
- Vision a truly sustainable food supply
- Sharpen your skills

Friday, July 14 6:30 PM -9:30 PM and
Saturday, July 15 9:00 AM - 4:00 PM

Sonoma State University

at the Cooperage
1801 East Cotati Ave, Rohnert Park

FRIDAY EVENING

- Exhibits highlighting local food initiatives
- Food tasting from the bounty of Sonoma County with Mark Mulcahy of Organic Options
- Plenary presentations by Anuradha Mittal, Oakland Institute
Janet Brown, Center for Ecoliteracy

SATURDAY

Workshop: Applying systems thinking to food issues
Breakout sessions on strategies for solutions

TO REGISTER:

Early Registration Extended! Register by June 30: $60

(Late registration $80, $10 discount for students, seniors, developing country citizens)

Includes both days, Friday evening food tasting, Saturday lunch

Register at www.food-matters.org or for more info call 707.874.1557, ext. 244.

Sponsoring Organizations: Sonoma State University • New College of California • JUMP/Associated Students SSU • Food Matters in Sonoma County • Center for Ecoliteracy • Occidental Arts and Ecology Center • International Society for the Systems Sciences • Sonoma County Office of Education • California Food & Justice Coalition • Appropriate Technology Transfer for Rural Areas • AgInnovations Network

